Mrs. H. A. Watson, manager of the Girls' Home, and her agents, brought quite a romantic love story to the surface yesterday. As the story goes, two old and respected families have lived in the beautiful cafion of Old Santa Monica for a number of years past. The families are named Marquezes and Kilgore. The heads of the houses have raised large families of children and past. The families are named Marquezes and Kilgore. The heads of the houses have raised large families of children and up to within a few days they were on the best of terms. It seems that one of Mr. Kilgore's daughters' is very beautiful and is highly accomplished. While not at school she has been allowed the freedom of ranchile, and as Don Marquezes, who boasts of being descended from an old Spanish family of royal blood, was the possessor of a handsome boy, the young lady was not long without a lover. During last summer the young people met often, and it is supposed that the dashing young Spaniard made love to her as enly his race can. During the past few weeks old man Kilgore noticed that the dashing young Spaniard made love to her as enly his race can. During the past few weeks old man Kilgore noticed that his daughter was becoming very uncasy. He did all in his power to get to the bottom of her troubles, but she was closemouthed, and when on one bright morning week before last, the old man rose and was told that the idol of his heart had disappeared, he was not at all surprised. He had been expecting a calamity of some kind, and he was firmly convinced that the girl had committed suleide. The alarm was given and the whole neighborhood was in a great state of excitement in a few munutes. A thorough search was made, but all to no effect, for the young girl had not taken her own life. When the old man found that something worse than death had overtaken his daughter, his sorrow knew no bounds. He tore his hair ani raved by the hour. It was about this time that he met young Marquezes. The old man suddenly remembered that the young man hed paid a good deal of attention to his daughter, and a terrible seene took place. The father accused him of laving ruined his daughter, and a terrible seene took place. The father accused him of laving ruined his daughter, and a terrible seene took place. ### A SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

A Gentleman Is Thrown from His Buggy. Quite a serious accident occurred yesterday afternoon, between 2 and 3 o'clock, near the corner of San Pedro and Fifth streets. A gentleman, accompanied by a little rirl, was driving along the street in a buggy, when the horse became frightened at a pile of building material and became anmanageable, and the gentleman was thrown out and knocked senseless. He was brought to the police station and Dr. was brought to the ponce station and Dr. Cole telephoned for. Afterworking for some time the gentleman was brought to his senses and left for his home. It was learned that he was a physician of Compton and was or his way from Azusa, but his name could not be ascertained.

A Reception.
The rooms of the Board of Trade were crowded last night with the members of Christ Church parish, who tendered a reception to their pastor, Rev. Thomas M Haskins, and his family. The rooms were nicely decorated, and a large table, loaded with edibles to tempt the most fastidious taste, added not a little to the evening's enjoyment. Rev. Mr. Haskins was kept quite busy greeting the members and their families as they arrived, and a right jelly evening was spent by both shepherd, and flock. Among the features of the reception was a cornet solo by Mr. Wilson, a song by Miss Burnett, a duett by Misses Lemon and Ward, song by Mr. McBriad, a banjo solo by Miss Anthony, a song by the members of the choral choir, song by Mr. Burton, Haskins, and his family. The rooms wer ward, song by Mr. McBriad, a banjo solo by Miss Anthony, a song by the members of the choral choir, song by Mr. Barton, piano solo by Mr. Ward and several recta-tions. After the programme was finished those present enjoyed a nice supper.

A Literary Society.

A goodly number of the leading citizens of Clearwater assembled in the new school building Wednesday night and organized a literary society. Mr. J. M. Miller, the colony superintendent, was elected president; Mrs. Atwater, vice-president; Mrs. Cowles, secretary; Mr. David Greenwell, treasurer; Mr. Henry Harrison, critic. A deep interest was manifested by all present, and the society starts out under most favorable auspices. The residents of this thriving young town are evidently an intelligent, wide-awake people, sure to attract a most desirable class of residents to their beautiful locality.

Four of the number were found in Mr. Grant's reporter wa cil be allowed to name the Chief of Police is growing in favor. Dr. Sinsabaugh, when asked by a reporter about the matter yesterday, said he would vote for any man suggested by the Mayor and President of the Council, as he thought that as they had the most to do with him, and the relations between them were very close, they should have the say as to who their colleague should be. He believed such a step would inspire confidence, and, in addition to this, these gentlemen would then have a greater interest in the matter, as they would, in a great measure, be responsible for him. He was willing to try the experiment, anyway. Of course, if a man were named who was, according to this disa, wholly unfit for the position, he would not feel that he was bound by this declaration, but he did not think there was any danger of such a man being named, as he had the ulmost confidence in both Mayor Workman and Mr. Hunpbroys. on the same street, and that the incendiary ash-barrel was too numerous in back yards. All of them, however, declared that they had no intention of withdrawing from this city, and said that any company wanting to pull out would have no difficulty in reinsuring all their fasks. They said that if any letters had been received from the East they did not know anything of that sort. They also intimated that it was more than probable that the rates on certain lines of risks would be increased, and others might be cancelled, but that did not mean anything like withdrawing from the city. Each and everyone expressed himself as opposed to a fire patrol—that is, if the insurance companies had to pay for it. All of the gentlemen said they would meet the commissioners this morning.

chairman, and A. S. Patton acted as secretary.

A map of the street had been prepared, and as submitted to the meeting, and it was explained that the plan was to have the street opened by voluntary subscriptions by the property-owners along the street, according to frontage.

The project was advocated by Messrs, Schumaker, Patton and others, who claimed that it would be of immense benefit to property-owners along the entire street.

I. W. Heilman said he was opposed to paying one cent. His property was all east of Temple street, and he thought that the opening of the street would be an injury to him. He said he was not talking for the public good, but for the pocket of I. W. Heilman. He had purchased property on the corner of Turner street, and had paid for the opening of the street. He had not asked his neighbors to help nim. He fiatly declined to pay any assessment, and after explaining his position, left the meeting.

GREAT CUCAMONGA VALLEY, Situated on the gently sloping plain, at an al-titude of 983 feet above sea level, and within full view of the grandly towering peaks of the magnificent Sierra Madre range. Old Baldy, with his superb height of 9000 feet and hears in majesty on the levely valley at their feet seen, far as the eye can roam, orchards of or ange, lemon, lime and olive, and vineyard laden with semi-tropical fruits, and fields clad with verdure and laden with perfume.

About three miles to the west may be seen the flourishing town and colony of Ontario; to the northwest, about the same distance, the old, world-renowned Cueamongs vine-yard; to the north, the fine new town of North Cueamongs; to the northeast is the village of Etiwanda, and to the southeast, Rivesside, Cokon and San Bernardine, and immediately to the southwest is the rich and prolific Chino ranch, South Cueamonga being the great central point. tral point.

The soil is superior and rich sedimentary deposit, of extraordinary depth, is loose and easily worked, and retains moisture for a great length of time, requiring very little irrigation. Those who are thoroughly competent to judge have pronounced Cucamonga, taking soil and climate together, to be far superior to the famous Duarte and Riverside orange bels for-raising oranges, lemons, etc., while it is entirely free from scale. The company also offers lands in 10, 30 and 40-acre tracts, with water, adjoining the town site of South Cucamonga.

No new town in Southern California has brighter prospects for becoming a railroad center than South Cucamonga. Already it has two great centinental lines, the Southern Pacific forming the boundary line to the South, the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Pe a short distance to the North, with two projected lines—one to Riverside and another to Sait Lake City.

A fine new passenger and freight depot, just completed by the Southern Pacific Railway, adds greafly to the comfort of travelers and general attractions. Over thirty trains pass through Cucamonga daily.

To secure the comfort of visitors, the fing new hotel belonging to the company has been opened under the management of a thoroughly competent hotel man. No expense has been spared in the appointments and furnishing to make it first-class in every respect, while the rates will always be reasonable. while the rates will always be reasonable

The grounds surrounding the hotel and in the park adjoining have been tastefully laid out with all kinds of tropical shrubbery, ever playing foundins, etc., by an experienced landscape gardener, and over 20,000 trees have been planted in the streets of the town.

A sojourn at this pleasant hotel, where within easy reach are the picturesque mountain trails, the grandly beautiful cañon and irresistably charming scenery of mountain gien and valley, wil be found vastly sonducive to health and happpiness.

Owing to its great richness the soil produces the finest oranges and lemons grown in the State, peaches, apples, pears, figs, almonds and walmats, and the finest of wine and raisin grapes. As proof of the great fertility of this section—the old Cheamonga vineyard (one of the oldest and finest in the State), adjoining Gucamonga, may be mentioned. The wines produced there having a world-renowned celebrity.

Excited treestyed at South Cheamongs depot.

Freight received at South Cucamonga depot for the year 1887, amounts te the enormous sum of 5,223,375 pounds; shipments from said depot for the same period 2,030,025 pounds thus showing the importance of this rapidly-growing locality as a shipping point for the surrounding country.

A first-class livery stable will be opened immediately.

Telegraph, postoffice and express offices are already established, and the company intends shortly to erect a number of fine stores, private residences, and also contemplate the erection of a fine bank building. Lote have been set aside for school and church purposes, park and hotel grounds have been tastefully laid out, and over 20,000 trees planted on the streets of the town.

The lots are all good and perfectly level, and the company have placed them on the market at the lowest possible price, in order to enable those buying to realize a handsome profit within a short space of time. Compared with surrounding towas, there are no prices as low. In Ontarlo, the nearest town on the west, similarly situated lots are now selling at from $1000 to $4000.

A town backed by the extensive influence of promisent railroad officials, and such representative men as H. M. Hellman, W. H. Goucher, C. F. Smurr, T. B. Henry, John B. Jackson, A. A. Staunton, H. M. Russell, etc., whose determination is to make it one of the most prosperous towns in Southern California, is assured.

Dirt has been aptly defined as "mater in a wrong place."

Mud is wet dust, or dust is dry mud

Los Angeles have had a chance to be-come intimately acquainted with the properties of mud—too well ac-quainted, in fact, for comfort. It has appealed in an aggressive, able-bodied nanner to their senses of touch, smell and sight, and has caused much bad language from otherwise good people Most men regard mud as a mysterious dispensation sent by Providence to flict people, much in the same manes and smallpox. It has, how ever, as we shall show, played an im rtant part in the history of the world, and fills some useful purposes. Man's career, as we are taught, first began in mud-or dust; it ends in mud, and its course is often very muddy. Adam, according to tradi s made of red earth-in fact, that is the meaning of the name-and was, consequently, a man of ruddy— not muddy—complexion. The best soil obtainable was doubtless used for the purpose, such as is found in some of our choice foothill sections, and orings from $250 to $500 an acre, being, the real-estate circulars say "adapted to grow to the highest per fection," etc., etc., "the choicest products of a semi-tropical," etc., etc. It will, therefore, be seen that Adam was a well-made, if not a self-made, man. Our colored brother was probably made from adobe soil, which will explain the belief entertained by the outhern "chivs" that they are con-

which, unless carefully protected from the weather, will soon be transformed into mud, and is liable to be used for most ignoble purposes. A writer, theorizing on the mutability of human greatness, has suggested that Casar's clay may have been used to stop a bung-hole. Possibly some of our citizens have been engaged, during the late storm, in brushing from their bespattered pantaloons vestiges of their Mud, or clay, is an article of diet with many races in South America and Asia. Even in our own Southern States the practice is not unknown such food must be, as Sam Weller said of the muffins, "wery fillin' at the price." These tribes would never need price." to starve in Los Angeles, although our variety of mud, like old limburger cheese, would probably be found too rich for an every-day diet, and be reserved for festive occasions. Most white people prefer to absorb the requisite amount of mud after it has been rendered palatable by being transformed into grain, potatoes, cabbages or other succulent vegetables. There are some, however, of the Uriah Heep class, who seem to have a propensity for eating dirt, while others re occasionally forced to do so.

Mud baths are frequently indulged n as a cure for a variety of ills. If there is any efficacy in such treatment. Los Angeles ought to be a remarkably healthy place just now.

Mud, in the shape of "adobes," is the usual material for aboriginal dwellings in warmer countries. It was such sun-dried bricks that the captive Israelites were forced, by their Egyptian task-masters, to make with-out straw—a feat which is rivaled by ome of our contemporaries, who try to get out a paper without news. Look at the Trombone, for instance. Houses are still built almost exclusively of this material throughout Mexico; New Mexico and Arizona. In Florence, the county seat of Pinal suited to all the needs of a large comwas built last month. In our Los Angeles "Sonoratown" there are many adobe houses remaining, but they are rapidly houses have to be well roofed, or they are liable to melt during a heavy rain idency of cold is to contract and run away in the gutter, leaving the unfortunate inmates nothing but a

> Then there is the campaign mud, which is in great demand in the United States every four years, when it is flung around profusely, regardless of cost. Said a great French diplomat: "Calomniez! calomniez! Il en restera toujours quelque chose!" Throw enough mud, and some of it is sure to stick! This is a campaign year, and there is a big local supply of mud on hand.

Mud also figures largely in the operations of the stock market. A little note from a broker, calling for City, a prominent center of the N.C.B. "more mud," often comes in the If they get hard up for something to nature of a death warrant to the speculator who has been buying beyond his means. Another feature of the market is the "mud-hen," who hovers around the brokers' offices with bedraggled skirts, as she watches her little pittance melting away on a margin.

Mud may be said to rival the sun as a source of life. Without mud, in the form of soil-adobe, loamy or other-wise-we should have no bread, no meat, no wine—no na'athin'. In fact, we shouldn't be here at all. In Southern California, toward the end of the year, we are all engaged in praying for moisture, to turn the dust into mud and make the grass grow and the cat-tle fat and the farmers "jubilant," and when it comes we, city people immediately begin to anathematize its effects. This is a fair sample of human nature. The mud of our fields means plenty and prosperity to farmer and merchant and laborer. The land-owner laughs and marks his price up $20 an acre.

In town lots, mud is worth about a dollar a pound, in the business center of the city. In the rainy season a man can easily carry off a dollar's worth on his boots. Mud to the value of nearly $100,000,000 was sold in this county last year, and the cry is still for more.

Last, but by no means least, we come to Los Angeles street mud.

On our streets it is certainly "matter in a wrong place." Its proper use is as a fertilizer. Millions are spent and battles fought over deposits of Peruvian guano, when we have, right here on the streets of Los Angeles, a deposit that our citizens would gladly dispose of at a moderate price, or even less. A few pounds of this stuff ought to make the least bloomful desert "blossom as the rose," as the country papers say. The man who cleans the New York streets for nothing, cleans up $50,000 a year. Why don't our City Fathers give some one a chance to grow rich? The subject is a fertile one; so fertile that we can't exhaust it in a single article.

A correspondent in today's calls attention to a beneficent purpos served by Los Angeles mud. It furnishes an easy surface to land on when a man stumbles into a chuck-hole, soft ening the hardship of the fall, as it were. Perhaps this is why our humane City Daddies leave the mud on the

EVERY progressive citizen of Los Angeles rejoices in seeing the rapid disappearance from our business streets of the dilapilated, one-story frame buildings that a few years ago were such a prominent feature along their lines. ## TUESDAY, JAN'Y

Five hundred and fifty-two acres of the Goodwin Ranch have been subdivided into 5. st beautiful and productive valleys in the State. Santa Aus Valley is 20 by 30 miles in area, and tains 300,000 acres of fertile and wonderfully productive land. All the products of temperate and stropical regions are here successfully cultivated. This particular piece of land offers extraording inducements to home and land seekers, as well as speculators, and is especially adapted for raising of the second seco grain, potatoes, apples, alfalfa, stock raising, also very choice for gardening lands. This soil will duce 100 bushs of corn per acre without irrigation, 700 sacks of onions per acre, and over 200 sacks potatoes—Better known as the famous peat lands of the Bancho Los Bolsas. Artesian water can be at a depth of 125 feet, and there are four large artesian flowing wells on the land. This tract lays olose proximity to Santa Ana, and, as everyone knows, Santa Ana is no outside town, but is a grothriving, substantial city of 5000 inhabitants, with every indication of reaching 10,000 in three y Its present growth is exciting the wonder and admiration of all Southern California. It is located on Southern Pacific Railroad at its junction with the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe lines, and has two sta motor street railroads now under construction.

Train leaves Los Angeles, at San Fernando and Commercial streets, S. P. R. I Depot, at 9 o'clock a.m. Leaves Santa Ana returning at 4:30 p.m. A band of music accompanies the excursion. Free lunch. Free carriage ride to all excursionists. Fare, round trip, $1.00.

TERMS OF SALE:-One-fourth cash, balance in 1, 2, 3 years at 10 per cent. interest on deferred payments.
